Fort Zachary Taylor - Key West, FL

Historical Masonry Restoration, National Historic Site

OWNER: State of Florida Department of Environmental Protection

ARCHITECT: Bender & Associates

VALUE: $2,500,000.

DATE: May 2008

DESCRIPTION:

CSI was contracted to perform the Historical Masonry Restoration of the Barracks Building at Fort Zachary Taylor in Key West, Florida.

Since the facility is one of the seven National Historic Sites located in the State of Florida, there was a heightened sensitivity for the restoration work. For example, the contractor was required to remove all brick and mortar by hand, as the use of mechanical equipment was not allowed.

The Scope of Work included but was not limited to:

- 100 % percent re-pointing of the brick façade
- Removal and replacement of localized deteriorated brick
- Large infill and rebuilding areas of brick
- Recreating window and door openings
- Resetting granite lintels

This project was completed on-budget, several months ahead of schedule.
